Thanks for the opportunity to work with your product the TrekPod. During the shooting of our television episodes we are usually hunting and fishing and always using a camera and tri-pod. The TrekPod has just made our job easier in more ways than one. During our rifle hunts we are often looking for a good rest for our guns when taking a shot. The TrekPod solves this as it is easy to quickly position and compact enough to hike in the field with. We were very pleased to discover that the lower shooting rest assembly was stable and worked great when sitting down and firing a rifle as well. Another huge bonus for us is that we can use the TrekPod as a mono-pod or tripod for some of our video cameras.

At times we need to do extreme hike-ins where our normal video camera tripods are just too large and bulky to pack in, we had no problem with the TrekPod. From a video production standpoint, the TrekPod gives our cameras stability and an additional range of motion (thanks to the swivel head) that we never had before. An adjustable walking staff, shooting stick, and camera pod all in one compact, sturdy product - you guys have a great product on your hands and we would recommend it to anyone!

Sincerely,

Sam Potter & Mike Skoro
